

WHEATON VILLAGE Cumberland County

Wheaton Village is a charming reconstruction of an 1888 glass town. Within the boundaries of this village are the Museum of American Glass, which traces the roots of the glass industry, and a working 1888 glass factory, where a visitor can watch while glassmakers work.

The first successful glass factory in America was located in nearby Salem County, founded by Casper Wistar, a German button maker, in 1739.